The Paulée de New York:
A Unique Event in the Heart of Manhattan

By CLAIRE MORIN-GIBOURG
Volume 133

“According to most of the wine growers present, there are few events in the world that gather and celebrate so much the Burgundy Grands Crus. Every year, alternatively in New York and San Francisco, a remake of the Paulée de Meursault, the traditional Burgundy meal at the end of the harvest, takes place. Finally an American spectacular which, during three days, from last February 10th to 12th, whirled the appellations, the vintages and the most prestigious domains of Burgundy for the American connoisseur’s greatest pleasure.”
